

Social and Personal.

Of all the blessings which my life has known,
I value most, and most prize God for three—
Want, Loneliness and Pain, those comrades true,
Who masqueraded in the garb of foes
For many a year, and filled my heart with dread.
Yet fickle joys, like false, pretentious friends,
Have proved less worthy than this trio.

And the two kinds of people on earth I mean
Are the people who lift and the people who lean,
Wherever you go you will find the earth's masses
Are always divided in just these two classes.

Taylor—Ellyson.

The wedding celebration of Miss Bettie Ellyson and Mr. Lewis Road Taylor, of New York, one of the most beautiful of the autumn, was held at 6 P. M. yesterday in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Theodore Ellyson, of No. 84 Park Avenue, this city.

The rooms and parlors were lovely with decorations of palms and white flowers. In the dining-room delicate tones of pink prevailed and pink candles in silver candelabra lent a deeper, softer glow to the pink roses resting in the center of the table.

The Rev. J. J. Taylor, of Georgetown, Ky., the uncle of the groom, assisted by the Rev. Dr. W. R. L. Smith, of the Second Baptist Church, were the celebrants, the ceremony being impressive and beautiful.

The ribbons were carried up by Master Donald Pegram Ellyson and Master N. J. Taylor, Jr., of No. 1, Rutgers School, of New York, one of the most beautiful of the autumn, was held at 6 P. MISS MARGERY KNOWLES.

Miss Knowles, who has recently returned from several years' training abroad under the famous vocalist, Madame Morris-Black, will be heard in a brilliant and varied programme, specially adapted to the powers of her rich contralto voice this evening at the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association.

The first number of the song recital, which is under the auspices of the 'Virginia Boat Club,' will be given at 8:30 o'clock. A number of the society women of the city will be patronesses of the occasion, and it is looked forward to with the liveliest anticipations of pleasure.

Laura Merryman Crane, daughter of Mrs. Henry Ryland Crane, of Baltimore, to Mr. George Hillman Whitfield.

The wedding will take place Wednesday afternoon, October 26th, at 3:30 o'clock, in Eutaw Place Baptist Church, Baltimore, Md.

Mr. Whitfield was formerly of Baltimore, but is now resident in this city, and is general superintendent of light and power at the Virginia Passenger and Power Company's plant. He is a brother of Dr. James M. Whitfield.

After November 15th, Mr. Whitfield and his bride will be at home at No. 116 North Third Street.

Out-of-Town Society.

Formal announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Helen T. Barney, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tracy Barney, of No. 67 Park Avenue, New York city, to Mr. Archibald Stevens Alexander, the son of Mrs. Archibald Alexander, of Castle Point, Hoboken, N. J.

This is one of the most important engagements of the season. Miss Barney is the niece of the late William C. Whitney and Mr. Alexander is a grandson of the late Edwin A. Stevens, of Castle Point.

Among the guests at the wedding of Miss Marion Lee Peabody to Mr. James Lawrence, Jr., of Groton, Mass., which took place Tuesday last in Trinity Church, Boston, were Mrs. Davidson, wife of the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Right Rev. John Percival, Lord Bishop of Hereford, and Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan.

The bridesmaids, Misses Elizabeth P. Lawrence, Sally Lawrence, Ellen W. Taylor, and Dorothy Forbes, were dressed alike in pale blue liberty satin, the full skirts with short trains and the low necked bodices filled in with lace and made with delicate folds and with lace filled sleeves. They wore large pale blue bouquets.

POLICY KING HAS LEFT SING SING

"Al" Adams, After Serving Out Term, Was Released on Tuesday.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) NEW YORK, October 12.—Albert J. Adams, the "policy king," whom Captain Norton Goddard's Anti-Policy League decried after a long and bitter struggle, was released from Sing Sing prison at 6:26 o'clock yesterday morning. He came directly to New York, spent a couple of hours with his attorney and real estate agents, and then went to join his family, several members of which are said to be waiting for him at Mount Carmel, N. Y.

Beyond a few words spoken to reporters as he was entering the carriage which took him away from the prison gates, he made no statement. The single sentence of this remark was a mild protest against his imprisonment, and entirely lacked the old-time defiance of the man who felt secure because of the immense sums which he paid for protection.

"For the last year and a half," he said, "I have been in an awful position, which, in my opinion, was no fault of mine."

There will be no further proceedings of any sort against Adams. His policy operation ceased when the police raided his real estate office at No. 40 West Thirty-fifth Street, and secured the evidence which resulted in his conviction. There is no one in New York who will be better pleased to see Adams lead an upright business life than the men who sent him to Sing Sing for promoting the meanest and most vicious form of gambling that was ever devised.

"We have absolutely no feeling against Adams," declared Captain Norton Goddard. "He has suffered full punishment, as the law decreed, for his errors in the past, and that past should be completely forgotten. No further proceedings that will be brought against him, and I certainly hope he will improve this opportunity of leading an upright life. He will not be watched personally, though we are still keeping an eye on the general policy situation."

Miss Laura Taylor McCoy, of Staunton, Va., will be the horse show guest of Miss Maude Cooke.

A joint meeting of the Advisory Board and the Executive Committee of the Confederate Memorial Literary Society will be held in the Confederate Museum this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The meeting is called for the transaction of important business.

Miss Florence Tyler, who has been visiting her grandmother at Richmond, has returned to her home in Staunton.

Blush Van de Vyver, of this city, is the guest of Father D. J. Coleman, in Fredericksburg.

The ladies of Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church, this city, will give a social this evening at 8 o'clock. Light refreshments will be served, and the public is cordially invited.

Miss Ellen Glasgow is in New York

Danny Deever.

By RUDYARD KIPLING.

Other selections from Kipling, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch have already been printed in this series.

"HAT are the bugles blowin' for?" said Files-on-Parade.

"To turn you out, to turn you out," the Color-Sergeant said.

"What makes you look so white, so white?" said Files-on-Parade.

"I'm dreadin' what I've got to watch," the Color-Sergeant said.

For they're hangin' Danny Deever, you can hear the Dead March play.

The regiment's in 'ollow square—they're hangin' him to-day; They've taken off his buttons off an' out his stripes away, An' they're hangin' Danny Deever in the mornin'.

"What makes the rear-rank breathe so 'ard?" said Files-on-Parade.

"It's bitter cold, it's bitter cold," the Color-Sergeant said.

"What's that that whimpers over 'ead?" said Files-on-Parade.

"A touch o' sun, a touch o' sun," the Color-Sergeant said.

They're hangin' Danny Deever, they are marchin' of 'im round, They 'avo 'alted Danny Deever by 'is coffin on the ground; An' 'ell swing in 'alf a minute for a sneakin' shootin' hound—O, they're hangin' Danny Deever in the mornin'.

"Is cot was right 'and cot to mine," said Files-on-Parade.

"'E's sleepin' out an' far to-night," the Color-Sergeant said.

"I've drunk 'is beer a score o' times," said Files-on-Parade.

"'E's drinkin' bitter beer alone," the Color-Sergeant said.

They are hangin' Danny Deever, you must mark 'im to 'is place, For 'e shot a comrade sleepin'—you must look 'im in the face; Nine 'undred of 'is county an' the regiment's disgrace, While they're hangin' Danny Deever in the mornin'.

"What's that so black agin the sun?" said Files-on-Parade.

"It's Danny fightin' 'ard for life," the Color-Sergeant said.

"What makes that front-rank man fall down?" said Files-on-Parade.

"It's Danny's soul that's passin' now," the Color-Sergeant said.

For they've done with Danny Deever, you can hear the quickstep play, The regiment's in column, an' they're marchin' us away; Ho! the young recruits are shakin', an' they'll want their beer to-day, After hangin' Danny Deever in the mornin'.

This series began in The Times-Dispatch Sunday, October 11, 1903. One is published each day.

HE WORRIED IN 1884: HASN'T SLEPT SINCE

Pascale has a rival of Trenton's sleepless wonder. He is Jacob Casteline, sixty-seven years old, who says he has not slept in twenty years. Casteline's family, the neighbors and the physicians testify to the truth of his statement. He has consulted physicians in Pascale, Paterson and elsewhere, but none has been able to make him sleep.

Casteline was born in Holland, but came to Pascale with his parents when a small boy. He was a strong lad, and for years worked on a farm. When he was a young man he says he was able to go several days without sleep. He tells of being employed about barges on the Hackensack River, and says he worked day and night all summer with but a few hours' sleep each day.

"About that time," he continued, "my wife was taken ill, and my expenses were so heavy I could not make a living for my family and pay the doctors' bills. I often lay awake a good part of the night thinking about it, and wondering if I should ever be able to pay my debts. Finally I could not sleep at all. I was then forty-seven years old.

"I am sixty-seven now, and I have never slept a wink since. I go to bed at night and lie awake thinking. I get up in the morning with a headache and feel tired and sick. I dress and get out into the air as soon as I can, and after I have walked around a while I feel refreshed and am ready for breakfast. My appetite is good, and I work every day."

Casteline is employed as a laborer by the Acquackanonk Water Company. He was found yesterday working with pick and shovel in a ditch, and is well and strong for a man of his age.—New York World.

No Orphan Asylums.

Australia has no orphan asylums. Every child who is not supported by parents becomes a ward of the State, and is paid a pension for support and placed in a private family, where board and clothes are provided until the fourteenth birthday.
